IMPROVED SEWING MACHINES. Manufactured at Watert non, Comm. Office and Warerooms at 343 Broadway, N. Y. THESE Machines have been in succe sful opera tion, in the hands of manufacturers and famithes for the past two years, and in every case have given universal satisfaction.

The proprietors are now prepared to offer them to the public, with that increased confidence in their merits, which the united testimony of their nume rous customers has strengthened and confirmed. These machines are mirely different from any other, the principles on theh they are made being exclusively our our

Among the advantages of this Machine over any others are the following. 1. The simplicity of its construction, and the easwith which it can be kept in the most perfect order. 2. The perfect manner with which the operator h enabled to stitch and sew the various kinds of work from the finest linen to the coarsest cloths.

3. It particularly excels in the rapidity with which work can be executed, and in that respect it has no 4. BRICKMAKING, Patented April 25, 1854 -By this method of making brick the various wellknown facilities and advantages of the ordinary manual process are combined with those of the machine or press system, while many disadvantages peculiar to the action generally of the latter are avoid ed; the bricks are made rapidly and dried and prepared for the kiln upon the bed on which they are moulded with but little delay and without the labor of removal or exposure to defacement to which they are subjected in the ordinary way. In the foregoing description of my improvement reference only has been made to the plain or ordinary building brick, but it is obvious that by a suitable construction and arcangement of the platen and mould box it is equally capable of manufacturing tile, hollow cornice, or any of the other well known forms of brick. Patent rights for sale. Address J. C. F. SALOVON, HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE. WE GIVE YOU FACTS!

We Appeal to your own Citizens!
THOUSANDS SPEAK ITS PRAISE! This article, which has made so many wonderfu cures wherever tried, was discovered by Dr. JESSE HAMPTON, now in fine health, in the 79th year of his age. He was born in Virginia in the year 1775, and emigrated to Kentucky, then a wilderness, with his father in 1779. In early manhood he was so re duced by disease as to be almost wrecked in constitution. He spent much of his living for medical advice and attention; and grew nothing better, but worse. Finding no relief from his physician, he resolved to try the restorative powers of the roots, barks, leaves, plants, &c., of the forest. He then dwelt in the midst of the Red Men of the Western Wilds. Having heard much of their skill in the use of the vegetable remedies of the forest, and k; owing their mode of medicinal practice must be one of practical experience, and not of theoretical specula-tion, he made himself acquainted with their remedies, and also with the practical medicinal knowledge the early settlers of Kentucky had obtained from the "medicine men" of the Indians. He care HAVE just received a very large assortment of fully studied the nature of the medicines used by them, combined them according to the light he re ceived, used them as he had been taught, and had the cheering satisfection of finding disease driven from his emaciated body, and vigorous health given in its stead. His case was of no ordinary kind, but astonishing to his friends and neighbors. The fame of it spread; the people far and near sent to the Dector for his successful and wonderful combinaion of Indian kemedies, which was freely given to them, until the cases became so numerous, and the demand so great, that the Doctor was advised by his friends and induced through justice to himself, to put up his Vegetable Tincture in bettles, and charge a price for it, which was reely given—finding its way into the first and most intelligent families, and astonishing all by its wonderful cures, commanding certificates and testimony in its favor from the leading and some of the most talented men of our

and pleasant. PHILADELPHIA, March, 1, 1853. Dr. C. M. Jackson: Dear Sir-For the past two years I have been severely afflicted with Liver Comlaint, Dyspapsia, Bilious Diarrhea, and Piles, sutfering in a great degree constantly, the pains and inconveniences attendant upon such diseases, without energy, being scarcely able to attend to any business. I lost a great deal . f my flesh, and used many kinds of medicine, with no apparent change, until commenced with your "Hoofland's German Bitters," they have entirely cured me. I have gained in weight over forty pounds since I commenced their use, and I am now entirely free from pain and ache of any kind, and feel like a new man. I unhesitate ingly recommend your Bitters to all invalids.

hat particular part of the bar crystalized n its structure, and so extremely brittle that it will sometimes break to pieces by being merely thrown on the ground, though all the rest of the bar will exhibit the best and toughest quality imaginable. The change, therefore, has been produced by percussion, as the primary agent, while the bar is at a lower temperature than a welding heat; and the evil may all e produced by four or five blows of the ammer, if the bar is of a small size. In this case we witness the combined effect of percussion, heat, and magnetism.— When the bar is at its proper temperafure for hammering, no such crystalization takes place, because the bar is then insensible to magnetism. But as soon as the bar becomes cool enough to be effected by magnetism, the effect of the blows is to produce magnetic inductions, which assisted by further vibrations from additional percussion, produces a crystalized texture; the iron looses its tenacity and Instances are on record where piston ods, having a jar in their motion, and ailroad car axles, and even common carriage axles, have become brittle, and have broken from like causes. So, with iron bridges, on the Erie Railroad; the wrought iron gun, the peace-maker, on the Princeton, in 1844; and in cases of suspension iron bridges, both in England and in this country. The late Wheeling bridge accident, and the Ryder bridge case, are probably attributable to the one and the same cause, combined with others arising from imperfections in the material when first used in the construction. From these facts and inferences, we have come to the conclusion that great care, both in the manufacture of the iron and in the mode of construction of wrought iron bridges, is essentially necessary to safety in such constructions.
